MEMOLUB AUSTRALIA STRENGTHENS MARKET POSITION THROUGH ACQUISITION OF CLEAN LUBE SOLUTIONS.

Memolub Australia is pleased to announce the acquisition of Clean Lube Solutions, a leading Australian lubrication management company recognised for its innovative contamination control products, technical expertise, and customer-focused service model.

As the Australian distributor and South East Asian support centre for Memolub, Memolub Australia helps industrial clients improve equipment reliability, reduce downtime, and optimise lubrication practices. The acquisition of Clean Lube Solutions significantly strengthens this offering—adding a highly regarded portfolio of Australian-made products and deep field experience in lubrication reliability, fluid cleanliness, and hands-on training.

Clean Lube Solutions has built a solid reputation across industries such as mining, oil & gas, power generation and manufacturing. Their engineered product range includes patch test kits, oil sampling equipment, mobile IBC and drum dispensing units, breather adaptors, lube room dispensing equipment, filter carts and containerised lube room systems, designed and manufactured in Australia to the highest standards.

“Clean Lube Solutions adds real depth to our business,” said Daniel Richardson, Managing Director of Memolub Australia. “Their technical knowledge, practical solutions, and years of in-field experience align perfectly with our values. Together, we’ll be able to deliver more complete and integrated support—whether it’s automatic lubrication, fluid handling, contamination control or on-site training.”

The acquisition supports Memolub’s broader global strategy of integrating advanced lubrication systems with localised expertise and customer support.

Diego Lamarche, CEO of Memolub, commented: “This acquisition reflects our commitment to delivering smart, efficient, and customer-centric solutions. Clean Lube Solutions brings a wealth of technical knowledge and a trusted track record in the field. Their integration into the Memolub network enables us to serve customers more closely, with tailored solutions that respond to real-world operational challenges.”

In addition to a robust product line, Clean Lube Solutions offers site-specific consultancy and training for lubrication technicians, fitters, and engineers—delivered on location and customised to each client’s operational needs.

The integration of both companies is already underway, with a continued focus on service continuity, enhanced customer support, and a broader value offering across Australia.

“This isn’t just a growth milestone—it’s about combining strengths to deliver even greater results for our customers,” added Richardson. “We’re excited about the possibilities this partnership unlocks.”
